www.the-IACP.com

The IACP Speakers' Bureau aims to make the services of leading experts more easily accessible, and to provide training and consultation to individual cognitive therapists and/or organizations, thereby contributing to an increase in the quality of both training and therapy. Founded in 2011, the IACP Speakers' Bureau currently provides several online training services for those who are unable to travel, do not have the time or the resources to travel to conferences, lack training resources within their own country, or simply enjoy training online.
